

ABSTRACT

A sticky ovitrap comprises a container, the inside wall of the container being a dark colour, and a clear plastic strip member which contains a sticky clear adhesive, the strip member being attachable to the inside of the container. The sticky strip member catches insects and can be removed and placed on a light box to clearly identify the type of insect.